Introduction

Parents/Carers,

We have gathered some general guidance and FUN activity ideas in which to help you to support your child at home. The principles and structure underpinning the activities are based upon The Attention Autism Approach. Practitioners in many settings across the city have adopted this approach, in order to develop early focus, engagement and turn-taking skills, in young people with autism. In settings, additional adults are encouraged to sit with the children to offer support, model reactions and engagement. This may be difficult to replicate at home. However, if there is an extra adult or an older child available, it would be helpful if they could provide similar support.

We have included some general guidance for each stage of the programme, an example 8 week schedule, with activity guidance, examples of resources and some useful video links which demonstrate the different stages of Attention Autism. We hope you will find it useful, engaging and fun!

About Attention Autism

Attention Autism is an approach to support young people with Autism. It was designed by Gina Davies, Specialist Speech and Language Therapist. It aims to develop natural and spontaneous communication through the use of visually based and highly motivating activities. Gina's primary objective is that the sessions are fun and "offer an irresistible invitation to learn"!

There are four distinct phases to the programme:

Stage 1 - The Bucket Stage

Stage 2 - The Attention Builder

Stage 3 - Turn Taking and Re-engaging

Stage 4 - Shifting & Re-engaging Attention

NB - The activities are designed to be fun and engaging. Be forewarned they can get MESSY! We would advise using a cheap shower curtain (or craft sheet) to protect surfaces. We have included a MESSY STAR rating system to help guide you, 1 star  being least messy, 2 * being a bit Messy and 3 , being very messy!

Stage 1 – The Bucket Stage

The first stage teaches children to focus their attention on the adult-led agenda quickly. We want the children to be irresistibly drawn to the bucket and its contents

The 'bucket' is a non-see-through container/bag, that holds a selection of small objects such as; wind-up, pop-up, musical or mechanical toys the children will find visually appealing, but which they have never seen before. Novelty value is key, so you need to build up a collection of lots of different items to maintain the element of surprise.

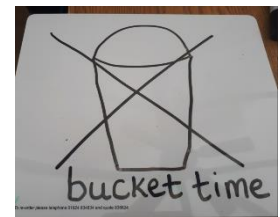

During this difficult time, you may need to be creative and adapt/decorate general household items such as sunglasses, hats, kitchen rolls, plastic bottles, containers etc. to create visually stimulating items and musical instruments.

Environment - clear the environment of distractions and seat your child opposite you.

Structure- In keeping with good visual communication practice, you start by drawing a bucket on a little whiteboard or piece of paper and write 'bucket' underneath. Then you set the scene by singing the bucket song before taking the lid off the bucket and pulling out one of its secrets.

Language - Try to keep your language to a minimum at this point because you want your child to look at the object, pay attention to it and engage with visually. You will be looking at it also and so you will all have the same-shared experience. For example, you might just say, "Light spinner" when you bring it out of the bucket. Then you put it back in the bucket and pick out something else. It takes maybe two or three minutes to do three objects in a row. Then you say: 'It's finished,' sign 'finished' and cross the bucket off on the board and move on to whatever else the children were doing. It might be helpful to follow the bucket activity with a favourable activity such as snack.

Rules – Don't be tempted to hand the toys/objects over to your child, they must remain special.

Likewise, avoid including anything in the bucket that your child already possess and love playing with. Imagine the distress of a child, whose special interest is Peppa Pig, when they sees their favourite toy held up in front of him, but out of bounds!

Stage 1- Attention Focus Ideas

Bucket Time- choose 2-3 objects to hide in a bucket/bag

Resource Ideas – bubbles, balloons, windup toys, push and go toys, musical toys, jack in the box, light spinners, foam rockets, musical instruments, funny glasses, party blowers, party hat, party popper, funny mask, pop up toy, pop up puppet, rice shaker etc.

During this time it may be necessary to make some of the resources yourself such as pop up puppets/toys, sock puppets, using a kitchen roll to make noisy shakers or decorate existing glasses, hats etc.

Directions – Sing the bucket song, " I've got something in my bucket, in my bucket, in my bucket, I've got something in my bucket I wonder what it is? (to the tune of here we go round the mulberry bush)

Gradually reveal 2-3 visually stimulating items from the bucket. Replace the lid each time.

Then say "finished" and put the bucket away and cross off the bucket picture on your wipe board/paper.

MESSY RATING 1*

Stage 2 – The Attention Builder

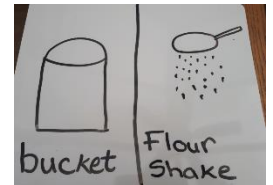

After anything from five to ten Bucket Full of Surprises, your child should be ready for stage 1 and Stage 2, the attention builder.

This involves introducing a longer activity that stretches their attention span for up to 10 minutes. It has a clear beginning, middle and end and is fascinating to watch from start to finish.

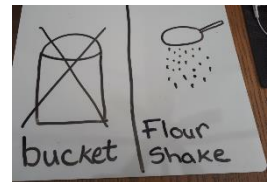

Environment – as before, clear the environment of distractions and seat your child opposite you.

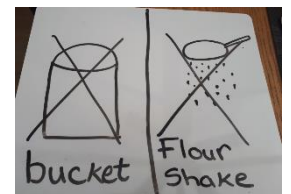

Structure - you start by splitting the wipe board in two. Draw a bucket on one side as before and a second activity on the other side. Deliver bucket time as in previous sessions and then cross it off your board.

Language – continue to keep your language to a minimum because you want your child to watch the activity, pay attention to it and engage with it visually. Sharing your experience. Name the object e.g. “sieve, flour” etc. and the actions. For example you might just say “shake, shake, shake” as you sprinkle the flour.

Example Activity – Draw a face - you might have a basket containing a box of flour, a sieve and a piece of black paper and a plain shower curtain to put the paper on. You draw on the board and write ‘flour shaking’. Then you unroll the paper, open the box and scatter flour from a height all over the paper. Then you draw a face on it. Finally, you tip the flour back into the box and start the whole process all over again. You might do that three times, and then you say, ‘It’s finished.’ Cross the activity off on your wipe board.

If your child wants to join in, that’s great, because it means they are engaged. But you gently tell them, ‘It’s XXXX’s turn’, and they accept this, because they have become used to the idea that your role is to show them things while theirs is to relax and enjoy watching.

Stage 2 – Attention Building ideas

Flour shapes & stencils

Resources – flour, stencils can be everyday objects or card cut outs, sand moulds, paper, sieve

Activity – place stencils on paper, sprinkle flour over the top and remove the stencil to reveal the shape.

(Alternatives to flour include; glitter, sand, snow, etc.)

MESSY RATING 1*

Flour Face

Resources – paper, sieve, flour

Activity – Sprinkle flour from a height onto the paper. Say, “Shake, Shake, Shake”.

Draw a face in the flour naming the features such as eyes, nose, mouth etc.

(Alternatives include; drawing lines, shapes, letters, numbers, flowers, animals etc.

Alternatives to flour are; sand, glitter fake snow, dry rice, shaving foam sprayed and smoothed)

MESSY RATING 1*

Flour Castles

Resources – four cups, piece of paper, flour.

Activity – fill containers to the top and turn over, splat from a height using the palm of your hand.

(You can count the castles, introduce big/small castles, and put letters, numbers, shapes, pictures, words on the castles and then splat!)

MESSY RATING 1*

Funny Face

Resources – rope/string to make the face shape, buttons for the nose and eyes, wool for hair and mouth.

Activity – make a round shape with the rope/string. Slowly add the buttons for the nose and eyes. Use the wool to make messy hair and a mouth.

(If you have access to numicon, this works well too as do ribbons, feathers, natural materials such as stones, leaves etc. You can also explore emotions by making the mouth happy/ok/ I am fine/ sad/ scared/ confused/surprised etc.)

MESSY RATING 1*

Rainbow Milk/magic milk

Resources – large flat dish, whole fat milk, cotton bud, 2-3 drops of food colouring (3 colours are best), fairy liquid on the end of the cotton bud.

Activity - Pour milk into the dish, add drops of food colouring, dip cotton bud into fairy and let it touch the milk to make the pattern.

MESSY RATING 1*

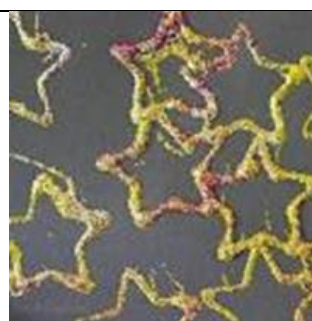

Glue Reveal

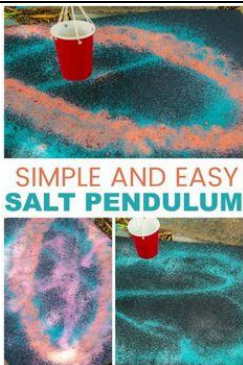

Resources – bottle of PVA glue, paper, glitter or (sand, flour, paint, snow, etc.)

Activity - use the glue to draw the outline of an object, sprinkle with glitter (or other). Shake off to reveal the picture.

(A Spiders web is effective, cookie cutters, play doh cutters are also effective)

MESSY RATING 1*

Humpy Dumpty Egg splat Resources– empty eggs shells, with faces on, liquid paint in each egg. Activity – sing the nursery rhyme and then throw them from a height onto paper to make a colourful mess saying “splat”! MESSY RATING 2
Lava Potion Resources – glass jar, oil, water, drops of different food colouring. Activity - Pour about ½ cup of water into the jar. Add some drops of oil, see what happens, put the lid on and shake. Add droplets of colouring and see what happens. (You can also add salt or soap detergent, for different effects.) MESSY RATING 1*
Sand Sift Secret Resources – sieve, sand, small objects (plastic animas, toys, jewels etc.) paper, cup. Activity - use the cup to pour the sand into the sieve, shake over the paper and reveal the hidden objects. Can also use different coloured sands. MESSY RATING 1*

Bubble Snake

Resources - cut off plastic bottle, micro cloth, elastic band, water and fairy liquid (1:1).

Activity – attach the cloth to end of bottle using elastic band. Dip in the soap liquid bowl and blow. Keep blowing and watch the bubble snake grow. Add different food colouring to make a rainbow bubble snake

MESSY RATING 3

Worm painting

Resources – cooked Spaghetti (if you can get it) alternatively wool or string, liquid paint, paper

Activity –dip the spaghetti into the paint and move it around and along the paper to make colourful swirls and patterns.

MESSY RATING 2

Great Bouncing Balls

Resources – 3-4 small balls (such as tennis balls), powder paint or flour, small bowl, paper.

Activity – roll the balls in the powder and then bounce them from a height down onto the paper to see them splat.

MESSY RATING 3

Stage 3 - Turn Taking and Re-engaging

In stage 3, the children learn to shift their attention, participate in interactive activities and take turns.

Turn taking is a deeply social skill, which does not make a lot of sense if you are not socially aware. However, if you do it as an attention shift, children with autism seem to be able to learn it much more easily. As they become accustomed to the routine of transferring their attention from watching, to taking part, and back to watching again, they do not actually need to understand the social skill underpinning what they are doing.

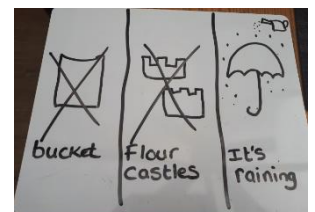

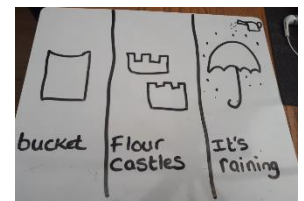

This stage can be difficult to deliver if there is only you and your child at home, as its focus is on taking turns and accepting if they do not always get to have a turn. If there are other children or adults in the home, they should be invited to join in too. However if there is only you and your child it will still work.

Environment – as before, clear the environment of distractions and seat your child opposite you.

Structure - you start by splitting the wipe board into three. Draw a bucket on one side as before, a stage 2 and add a 3 activity on the other side.

Deliver bucket time and stage 2 activity as in previous sessions and then cross them off your board.

Language – continue to keep your language to a minimum because you want your child to watch the activity, pay attention to it and engage with it visually. Sharing your experience.

Example activity- It's Raining, make sure you put the shower curtain down on the floor (or a paddling pool) sit your child on a small stool under the umbrella, gently pour the water from the watering can over it. Say "drip drop rain, drip drop rain, rain has stopped". Take turns with other children/adults in the house. This can also be adapted to have hail (using rice) and snow (using fake snowflakes or polystyrene, but this can be very messy!) After a few turns, the activity is "finished" and crossed off your board.

Once you have both taken turns, you have created a shared experience, which binds you together, making communication and interaction easier.

Stage 3 –Turn Taking and Re- engaging Attention Ideas

Cake Splat

Resources – 5 cake cases, shaving foam, cherry or other object to decorate, your hand or a fly swat.

Directions – spray the foam into each cake case then exaggerate the splat from high. Invite your child to come and take a turn.

Activity – use the glue to drip firework shapes onto the paper, sprinkle glitter over the top. Shake off to reveal the sparkly firework. Invite your child to have a turn.

MESSY RATING 3

Stage 4 - Shifting & Re-engaging Attention

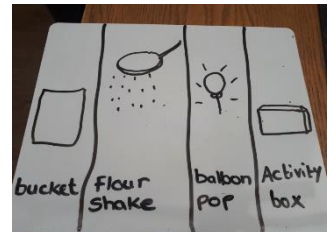

In the final stage, your child can take this one-step further by learning how to focus on you as lead adult, and then shift their attention to an individual activity before refocusing it again to return to you.

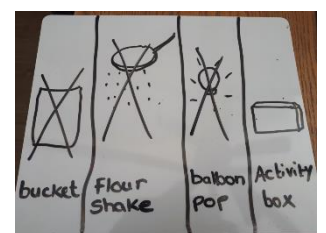

Your child will watch you demonstrate an activity, and then they each get their own little box of materials and go off to try it out for themselves. For example, they might watch you create a spiky playdough caterpillar, a spaghetti monster or a pretend cake. Then they retire to the same table, unpack containers in their kit and get busy. When time is up, they come back to you to share what they have done.

The results usually look terrific, but that is not what matters the most. It is the process that counts. From learning to watch a wind-up toy for a few moments, the children have progressed to being able to follow a demonstration, go away, do it independently, and then return to show it as a member of a group. The development of their attention skills has made that possible.

Environment – as before, clear the environment of distractions and seat your child opposite you.

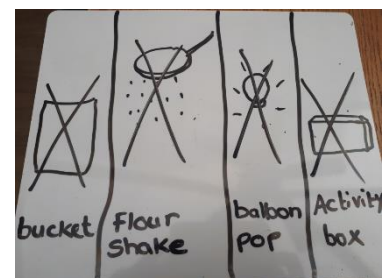

Structure - you start by splitting the wipe board into four. Draw a bucket on one side as before, a stage 2, 3 and add a stage 4 activity on the other side. Deliver bucket time, stage 2 and stage 3 activities as in previous sessions and then cross them off your board as you complete them.

Language – continue to keep your language to a minimum because you want your child to watch the activity, pay attention to it and engage with it visually. Sharing your experience.

Example activity - Feather Monsters -demonstrate rolling play doh/plasticine into a ball. Add a variety of feathers and stick on googly eyes to make a monster character. Give your child a small tray/box with the same resources in it. Direct them to a table and encourage them try to make a monster of their own. When it is complete, ask them to come and show you so you can share the experience.

Stage 4 – Shifting and Re-engaging Attention

Copy me

Resources – lego/duplo blocks, pattern to copy,

Homemade Playdough Recipe

Ingredients

- 1 cup flour
- 2 tsp cream of tartar
- 1/2 cup salt
- 1 tbsp cooking oil Olive oil or vegetable oil
- 1 cup water
- food coloring

Instructions

- In a large bowl, combine all of your dry ingredients (flour, salt, cream of tartar) and mix well.
- Mix food coloring with your water first. Then add the vegetable oil and water with food coloring to a large pot. Mix together.
- Add the dry ingredients to your pot and mix well.
- Cook over low to medium heat until the dough starts to form and becomes dry.
- Once it starts to form a ball together and looks fully cooked, take off the heat. Let the dough cool first before touching.
- Once cool, knead the dough for 5 minutes to make the dough soft.
- If your dough is not soft, continue kneading for another 5 minutes. If you find it is still too dry add a little bit more oil and knead in. Store in an air- tight container.
